Conference Announcement and Call for Papers

23rd Symposium of the Society for Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics

March 19-20, 2015
Oslo, Norway

The 23rd Annual Symposium of the Society for Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics will be held at the BI Norwegian Business School, in Oslo, Norway on March 19-20, 2015. The aim of the meeting is to present and discuss recent developments in theoretical and empirical analysis of nonlinearity in economics and finance. The local organizers are Hilde Bjørnland (BI Norwegian Business School) and Francesco Ravazzolo (Norges Bank). Confirmed keynote speakers are James Stock (Harvard University) and Martin Eichenbaum (Northwestern University).

You are invited to submit a paper. Completed manuscripts or extended abstracts can be submitted electronically via the Conference Maker software at the following link: http://editorialexpress.com/conference/SNDE2015/ To submit a paper, you must select one of the following five topic areas: (1) Macro Theory, (2) Empirical Macro, (3) Forecasting, (4) Time Series, or (5) Finance.

In addition to the SNDE Executive committee, the program committee includes

Richard Baillie, Michigan State University
Hilde C. Bjørnland, BI Norwegian Business School
Guillaume Chevillon, ESSEC Business School, Paris
Pasquale Della Corte, Imperial College London
Ana Galvão, University of Warwick

Submissions must be received on or before December 15, 2014. Authors will be notified whether their papers have been accepted for the Symposium by January 16, 2014. If you have any co-authors on your submitted paper, please make sure to supply all name and affiliation details within Conference Maker when submitting.

All registrants, including presenters (invited and contributed), must pay the registration fee of 285 USD (375 USD after February 16, 2015). The first 15 graduate students who register by February 16th 2015 will receive a discounted fee of 185 USD. Please note that all registration fees are non-refundable. Complete details regarding registration and local accommodation will be available in the near future on the society’s website at http://www.sndeecon.org/conferences/snde2015.html

The Society will award two 500 USD prizes: (1) the James B. Ramsey prize for the top paper in econometrics presented by a graduate student, and (2) the Gerald P. Dwyer prize for the top paper in finance presented by a graduate student. Graduate students’ electronic submissions should be followed up by a letter on official university stationary from a professor certifying that the submitter is a graduate student in good standing. An electronic version of this letter should be emailed by the professor to SNDE Executive Board President Kevin Lansing at kevin.j.lansing@sf.frb.org by February 16, 2015.

Authors of papers accepted for the Symposium are encouraged to submit their paper to the Society’s journal: Studies in Nonlinear Dynamics and Econometrics http://www.degruyter.com/view/j/snde Starting in 2015 and continuing annually, the Society will award $2,500 to the best paper published in the journal. All papers published during calendar year 2014 will be considered for the inaugural award to be announced at the 2015 Symposium in Oslo.
